Members receive a weekly email on industry updates

"In changing and uncertain times, it is important to be able to present a united and professional voice on behalf of our industry. FICA helps achieve that, by addressing issues affecting forestry contractors. As a member of FICA, whether you're a new contractor or have been in business for 30 years, you will be able to access relevant information through seminars and newsletters, be in touch with people facing the same challenges as yourself, and experience a level of support which is not always found in our solitary business lives."
